

Keynote Speaker

DR. MARLA FREDERICK

Asa Griggs Candler Professor of Religion and Culture
Candler School of Theology, Emory University

Participants

Nancy Ammerman

Anna Bigelow

Kijan Bloomfield

Emily Dumler-Winckler

Mary Dunn

Maggie Elmore

Kathleen Holscher

Leonard McKinnis

Lincoln Mullen

Kristy Nabhan-Warren

Michael Pasquier

Shari Rabin

Teresa Smallwood

Jolyon Baraka Thomas

John Turner

Tobias Zürn

Also featuring a public talk
by photographer
Lauren Pond,
the 2018–2019
Lived Religion
in the Digital Age Artist in Residence

RELIGION in PLACE

Spaces | Borders | Bodies

OCTOBER 10-12

Starting with geographer Yi-Fu Tuan's question, "When does mere location become place?" this symposium scrutinizes formations of location and locatedness—geographic, sensorial, imaginative, legal, affective, architectural, digital, incarnational, and otherwise—in the study of religion and theology. With support from the Henry Luce Foundation and Saint Louis University, it convenes scholars from various fields of expertise and methods of inquiry to engage in robust interdisciplinary conversation around space and place as critical (re)orientations in the study of religion and as generative frameworks for deepening our understandings of religion in public life.

Travel grants are available for those who need assistance to attend the symposium. For more information please go to www.religioninplace.org or email livedreligion@slu.edu.

Image:
"Hands of Rev. Naito (Buddhist) ..."
Dorothea Lange, Florin, California. 1942.

SAINT LOUIS UNIVERSITY™

Lived Religion
in the Digital Age